The Stock Market Still Under a Cloud-Another Decline.

THE REPORT OF WESTERN UNION

Money Easy-Gold Steady and Government and Railroad Bonds Firm.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 14-6 P. M. The description of the stock market to-day varies but slightly from that of yesterday. Prices were generally lower at the opening than at the close last night, and beyond very ind ferent and unsuggestive fluctuations, no special interest attaches to the immediate situation. Speculation in Erie was the principal feature of the day, the prices in London exercising their usual con-trolling influence here, but Lake Shore, Western Union, Northwest and Union Pacific likewise came in for a fair share of business. In the absence of tirely upon the work of cliques, and these in turn depend on the success attending their efforts in attracting operators who may follow the given or announced bent of trade. The effect of the Western elections and their possible influence upon the financial situation was scarcely discussed, much less feit.

The differences in prices between the close last night and to-night are as follows :-
